COURT OF SESSIONS.

Judge Ernest Moore Presiding—Several Pleas of Guilty—Four Murder Cases for Trial.

The court of general sessions convened in Newberry on Monday, with Judge Ernest Moore presiding. This is Judge Moore's first visit to Newberry since his election as judge. He charged the grand jury as to their duties and proceeded with the business of the court.

There is a pretty heavy criminal docket, there being some four homicide cases for trial. Among these is that of Mr. G. A. Long for the killing of Mr. B. R. Guin. That case will probably be called on Thursday.

Four negroes pleaded guilty on Monday morning and were sentenced by Judge Moore.

On the grand jury T. Roy Summer and J. T. Summer were drawn to take the places of I. A. Miller and J. F. Bowers, who have moved out of the county. On the petit jury M. W. Clary and M. A. Jones were drawn in place of J. A. McGraw and M. O. Boozier.

Julie Gilliam pleaded guilty to house breaking and larceny and was sentenced to two years on the chain gang.

Laurens Kinard and John Wise pleaded guilty to assault and battery with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons, and were given each $35 or thirty days on the chain gang. This was a cross indictment, both parties having been engaged in a fight with one another and each having been wounded.

Paul Rauch pleaded guilty to house breaking and larceny and was given two years on the chain gang.

Walter Igner was on trial yesterday afternoon on the charge of house breaking and larceny. He was represented by B. V. Chapman.

At 1 o'clock Saturday, March 13, the Winthrop Daughters of Newberry entertained most pleasantly the Winthrop girls of the entire county, Dr. D. B. Johnson being the guest of honor.

The luncheon room at the high school was beautiful in garnet and gold, Winthrop colored flomers—jonquils and red carnations. A delightful salad course was served. Miss Elizabeth Dominick, president of Newberry Winthrop Daughters, gave a toast to Winthrop and to the health of the man to whom we all went snaking and quaking—Dr. D. B. Johnson. In response, Dr. Johnson said the same people were after him and the Winthrop girls, that wherever there is a graduate of the college there is a little Winthrop. He especially invited all the alumnae of the college to a Winthrop banquet in Florence March 26. Miss Bess Burton's proposal was carried out by giving "our own D. B." a rising vote of thanks.

The luncheon was enjoyed by the following: Mrs. Elliott Duncan Dunn, Mrs. Elinor Duckett Johnson, Mrs. Frances Rawl Morris, Mrs. S. A. Jeter, Miss Blanche Davidson, Misses Elizabeth Dominick, Sallie Belle Buford, Ruth Payne, Bess Burton, Corrie Lee, Lavird, Eliza Mabry, Gertrude Reader, Sadie Bowers, Mary Wright, Daisy Whitney, Katherine Wright, Bessie Gryder, Mattie Lou Barnett, Martha Creighton, Nell Shealy, Annie Laurie Suber, Eunice Long, Elberta Sease, Ernestine Wicker, Rebecca Wicker, Ethel Counts, Ella Mae Martin, Lucy Riser, Iva Eaddy and Sadie Goggans. ## Music Recital by Miss Rawl's Pupils.

A delightful event of the week was the piano recital on Wednesday evening given by the pupils of Miss Rawl's school at the studio in Main street.

Bowls of white and yellow daffodils and white narcissus decorated the entrance hall, while blue and white hyacinths and pink carnations furnished the color scheme for the studio.

The program, which was the result of just twenty weeks of study, proved an unusually interesting one the tone, quality and interpretation of the duets by little Miss Marguerite Burns (with Miss Rawl) and Masters Burton and Fulmer Wells, rendered entirely from memory; the waltz and study by Master George Fulenwider, the youngest pupil of the school, seeming almost impossible of accomplishment in the given time. Little Misses Mary Alice and Gladys Suber, the two newest pupils of the school, in their sketches, "The Prince of Music" and "The Story of the Magic Flute," gave a wonderfully interesting picture of the life and work of the young Mozart. Miss Evelyn Swain, in her interpretation of the slow movements of one of his most famous symphonies as well as in the prelude by Porter, gave a musical picture equally beautiful, while Master Walter Lindsay, in his rendering of Merkel's "Hunting Song," showed an ease of manner and a true quality unusual in so inexperienced a performer. Following is the program:

Alla Marcia (march) N. E. C. Course, Grade 1—Miss Marguerite Burns and Miss Rawl.

(a) Cuckoo, (Cockoo Calls from the Woods)—Thirty-five Easy Pieces for First Grade; (b) Chord Study (Moderato), N. E. C. Course Grade 1—Master George Fulenwider.

Prelude Op. 5, No. 31, F. Addison Porter—Miss Evelyn Swain.

Allegretto Study, N. E. C. Course, Grade 1—Master Fulmer Wells.

(a) Happy Morn (waltz), Thirty-five easy Pieces; (b) Allegretto Study, N. E. C. Course, Grade 1—Master George Fulenwider.

"Song" (from the German)—Miss Marguerite Burns.

Reading, "The Prince of Music"—Miss Mary Alice Suber.

Audantino from Symphony in E flat, Mozart—Miss Evelyn Swain.

The Chase, Epman—Master Burton Wells.

"Little Study" (Album for the Young), Schumann—Master Fulmer Wells.

Reading "The Story of the Magic Flute", Mozart—Master Burton Wells.

Andante study, N. E. C. Course, Grade 1—Master Fulmer Wells.

Hunting Song, Merkel—Master Walter Lindsay.

Evening Quiet, Reinecke—Miss Evelyn Swain.

Duet (Moderato), N. E. C. Course, Grade 1—Masters Burton and Fulmer Wells.

The Ladies Aid society of the Church of the Redeemer will meet Tuesday March 16, at 4 o'clock with Mrs. C. Specks.

Mrs. Helen Clary, of Smyrna, and Mrs. Sula Wilson, of Longshortt, are visiting Mrs. C. A. Matthews.
